Time4Breax Free [Win/Mac] [Latest-2022]

Automatically breaks from work and reminds you to take regular breaks. Allowing you to be more productive, with no additional hardware needed. Can pause your work and take a break. Help you take regular breaks from your work. Help you control when you take a break. Time4Breax is a must have for any working person. If you are struggling to keep your work-life balance, help is just a few clicks away. We all struggle to fit work around our lives; Time4Breax makes it easy to work smarter, not harder. The software may remind you to take a break, depending on your set break intervals. You can set break reminders as often as you wish, to be reminded to take a short break when you work for a long time. The software tracks your work time every day, saves it and can count up to the maximum work time that you specified. Easy to use, just type a few commands in Time4Breax and you can enjoy an easy to use and accurate software. Use the Start button to start the pause timer and the Have a break button to pause and continue working. Create personalized break reminders and limit the duration of your break periods. The software can notify you of the exact moment you are allowed to work and when the break is over. The software allows you to set a break duration (in minutes) or a certain length of time, in which you will not be able to work. This allows you to work a specific period without taking breaks, creating a work schedule that fits your needs. A reminder can take the form of a sound, a program to run or a shutdown, hibernation or stand-by. Use custom sounds, or in any way that suits your style. The software tracks your work time every day, saves it and can count up to the maximum work time that you specified. Reminders can be cleared from the user interface. Choose between standard or quiet work mode. The program runs in the background with no additional hardware needed. Saving all the data in a regular file and it can resume working from a previous session. The software can monitor all the sessions of a user to ensure that the user does not work over the limits set by the user. Time4Breax History: Version 3.5.1 Added option to stop the program when it loses focus. Version 3.4.1 Added option to pause the work and only work during the break.

Time4Breax Crack+ (Final 2022)

Time4Breax is a reliable and easy to handle application that enables you to log all the hours of your daily work and set reminders for breaks. You may easily configure the software according to your work pattern and set the maximum work intervals or the indicated breaks. The purpose of Time4Breax is to help you to take regular breaks from work and care for your health. Pause the hard work Time4Breax is especially dedicated to users who spend their day working in front of the computer. Sitting down and looking straight into the monitor can be damaging for your health, on the long term and the solution is simple and free of charge: take a break. With Time4Breax you can easily set break reminders. The software can display three types of timers: the work, the break and the global timer, that indicates the time elapsed since the program was opened. The timer on the left works as a stopwatch, while the counter on the right records the total time, in all the sessions. Clicking the Have a break button pauses the work timer and enables the pause counter. Automatically breaking from work The software enables you to operate it using quick keyboard commands or it can automatically stop the work timer and display a break reminder. You may mark the maximum number of hours of allowed work time per day and the interval at which the reminder should be posted. The note can contain a small piece of text, be accompanied by a custom sound or trigger a program to run. Moreover, you may set a backup timer, if the break reminder is ignored, at the end of which the user is forced to log out or the desktop is locked. Other solutions can be shutdown, hibernation or computer stand by. Be reminded of taking breaks With Time4Breax you can configure your work schedule to be composed of custom length breaks every few hours. The reminder can go off again and again, if ignored the first time, at a specified time interval. Time4Breax is a simple to use software that can record the time you work every day and prompt reminders on the screen that you should take a small break. Features: - No need to install additional software - Easy to use, no registration - Automatically breaks your work and record the number of hours per day - Pause the work and set the breaks - Detailed statistics - Customizable notes - Customizable sounds - Time stamps, dates and alarms for notes - Configuration settings - The possibility to set
