Roberto: The Zambian King of Afro-Pop

If you are a fan of Afro-pop music, you might have heard of Roberto, a Zambian singer-songwriter who has been making waves in the African music scene. He is best known for his hit songs such as "Amarulah", "Beautiful", and "Queen That You Are". But who is Roberto, and what is his story? In this article, we will explore his biography, his music, and how you can download his songs for free.

Who is Roberto?

Roberto, whose full name is Robert Banda, is a Zambian musician, producer, and radio presenter. He was born in Chipata, Zambia, in a family of nine children. He started singing at a young age, inspired by his father who was also a musician. He later moved to Lusaka, where he pursued his education and his musical career.

His early life and musical journey

Roberto grew up listening to different genres of music, such as R&B, hip-hop, reggae, and gospel. He learned to play various instruments, such as the piano, guitar, and drums. He also developed his skills in songwriting and production. He released his first album, titled "My Name Is", in 2007, which featured songs such as "Osanisiya" and "Operator". He followed it up with two more albums, "Akasuba" in 2009 and "My Name Is... Part 2" in 2011.

However, it was his fourth album, "Amarulah", that catapulted him to fame across Africa and beyond. The album was released in 2014 and contained 14 tracks, including the smash hit "Amarulah", which became an anthem for many people. The song blended Afro-pop with dancehall and reggae elements, creating a catchy and upbeat sound that appealed to a wide audience. The song also won several awards, such as the Best International Song at the Zim Music Awards in 2015.

His achievements and awards

Since then, Roberto has continued to release more albums and singles, such as "Superstar" in 2017 and "Journey to the East" in 2020. He has also collaborated with other artists from different countries, such as Patoranking from Nigeria, Vanessa Mdee from Tanzania, Jay Rox from Zambia, and Mohombi from Sweden. He has also performed at various events and festivals across Africa and Europe.

Roberto has also received numerous accolades for his music, such as the Best Male Artist Southern Africa at the All Africa Music Awards (AFRIMA) in 2016, the Best R&B/Urban Song at the Ngoma Awards in 2017, and the Best Male Artist at the Kwacha Music Awards in 2018. He has also been nominated for other awards, such as the MTV Africa Music Awards (MAMA), the African Muzik Magazine Awards (AFRIMMA), and the Kora Awards.

His collaborations and influences

Roberto has cited various artists as his influences, such as Michael Jackson, Usher, R. Kelly, Bob Marley, Lucky Dube, Oliver Mtukudzi, Fally Ipupa, Davido, Wizkid, Diamond Platnumz, and many more. He has also expressed his admiration for other Zambian artists who have paved the way for him and others to shine on the international stage.

Roberto has also collaborated with some of the most popular and talented artists in the continent, such as King Kaka from Kenya, General Ozzy from Zambia, Natacha from Burundi, and Rayvanny from Tanzania. He has also featured on the Coke Studio Africa show, where he showcased his versatility and creativity. He has also been involved in various social causes, such as raising awareness and funds for the fight against malaria and HIV/AIDS.

What is "Queen That You Are"?

One of Roberto's latest and most successful songs is "Queen That You Are", which was released in 2019 as part of his album "Superstar". The song is a tribute to all the women who are strong, beautiful, and powerful in their own ways. It is also a love song that expresses his admiration and appreciation for his partner.

The inspiration behind the song

In an interview with Zambian Music Blog, Roberto revealed that the song was inspired by his wife, who he described as his best friend and soulmate. He said that he wanted to celebrate her and all the other women who have supported him throughout his career. He also said that he wanted to empower women to embrace their uniqueness and greatness. He said that the song was a way of saying thank you to all the queens in his life.

The lyrics and meaning of the song

The song has a catchy chorus that goes like this:

Queen that you are
You're my superstar
You're my number one
You're my only one
Queen that you are
You're my superstar
You're my number one
You're my only one

The verses of the song are full of compliments and praises for his queen, such as:

You're so amazing
You're so captivating
You're so fascinating
You're so intoxicating

The song also has a bridge that expresses his loyalty and commitment to his queen, such as:

I'll never leave you alone
I'll always be by your side
I'll always treat you right
I'll always make you smile

The song is a simple but sweet declaration of love and respect for his queen, who he considers to be his everything.

The reception and impact of the song

The song was well received by both fans and critics, who praised Roberto's vocals, production, and message. The song also became a hit on various radio stations and streaming platforms, such as YouTube, Spotify, Apple Music, and Deezer. The song also has an official video that features Roberto and his wife, as well as other couples who represent different cultures and backgrounds. The video has over 1.5 million views on YouTube as of June 2023.

The song also had a positive impact on many women who felt inspired and appreciated by Roberto's words. Many women shared their stories and photos on social media using the hashtag #QueenThatYouAre, showing how they are proud of themselves and their achievements. The song also became a popular choice for weddings, anniversaries, birthdays, and other special occasions.
